Comment: I'm writing to urge you to strike language about the need for liquefied natural gas islands to supply New York's energy needs. I am aware of the Safe Harbor LNG project, set to go up opposite Long Beach. I often go to Long Beach in the summer, and I object to such a dangerous facility sitting in the high seas opposite a densely inhabited barrier island and public beach. This is not the way to supply New York with cleaner energy. We need alternatives to fossil fuels, period. We certainly do not need highly explosive gas sitting out in the Atlantic Ocean! Please reconsider this very bad idea. Thank you.
